Why Start an Experiential Middle School?

Middle years students are capable of so much! This transition from childhood to adulthood is one of the most important developmental years of a person's life. We want to provide a rich educational environment for youth to explore who they are as individuals and how they can play important roles in their communities. In-depth, hands-on projects with real-world relevance and a supportive community in which to practice leadership skills are features of an ideal environment for many youth in which to hone personal and academic development during this critical life phase.
